Twenty-five years are not many among the 1954 observed since the birth of Christ, but in the era of airline schedules they constitute an almost incredible development as one observes the history of flight.

For it was just a quarter of a century ago that Transworld airlines predecessor company, Transcontinental Air Transport, took 20 passengers from New York to Los Angeles by train and plane, setting up a new transcontinental record of 48 hours between the two coasts. Today, of course, the schedule is flown in one-fifth of that time, and in approximately 8 hours on the non-stop flights.

In early July of 4929 the 20 courageous souls who were to make the initial flight took a train from Pennsylvania Station in New York, and got off the next morning at Port Columbus, Ohio. There they got aboard a couple of Ford tri-motored planes and flew all the way to Waynoka, Oklahoma, where once again they boarded a railroad train for the overnight trip to Clovis, New Mexico. The second morning the hardy travelers left the train and got into another couple of tri-motored Fords to complete the 48 hours journey to Los Angeles.

In these modern days of flight, when the jetliner of the future is not far away from adoption, more than a thousand passengers fly from coast to coast daily, but a quarter of a century ago the pioneers of the 48-hour train-plane schedules were delighted to get through without delay after two Robert S. ### The Army's Example

When the first basic decisions were made in the armed forces agginst racial segregation, less than 10 years ago, few would have declared that such change would succeed.

The question constantly arose, both among those responsible for policy-making and others who had no such responsibility: will it work?

The answer has been evident for a long time, even before Korea gave such a vigorous impetus to the transition. Integration of the races does work, and with a whole-heart- in deliveries to the French. Shiped acceptance that could never have been anticipated in the

Despite the pull-back attitude of many soldiers and civilians that the experiment was doomed to failure, the process rolled along propelled by the fact that, in or out of uniform, people are inclined to do what comes naturally. And many a soldier, skeptical of the changes, soon found that a man was a man, regardless of the color of his skin, and that he had the same skills and the same shortcomings.

In the regular service and in the reserve elements, segregation is rapidly becoming a forgotten phrase of military existence. ### · Five Couples Wedded 50 Years Or More Are Honored Sunday At Wesley Chapel

Sunday was a big day for five couples residing in the Stroudsburg area who had been married 50 or more years.

Special services were conducted at the Wesley Methodist Chapel at 11 a. m. by Rev. LeRoy Bernard, pastor of the Tannersville Methodist chapel, of which Wesley chapel is a part; also at 3 p. m. when of the same color There are but 55 members of the chapel, it was announced yesterday and 10 of them are the honored couples. With the exception of the Canfields, who came here originally from Wyoming County, they were all born in the Wesley Chapel area and have spent their lives there.

Rev. Bernard, the pastor, who was in charge of the service in the morning spoke on the general theme of "Golden Opportunities" dwelling on the subject, "Working Your Own Garden." This George Coss, sons, Timothy, honwas applied to the lives of the five couples honored.

Mrs. Clyde White furnished special organ music for the service and Miss Ann Louise Frailey, a student at Mansfield State Teachers College, was heard in a vocal number with Mrs. White her accompanist.

At the conclusion of the church services, luncheon, furnished by the women of the congregation was served. The period also provided opportunity for reminiscensing which proved most enjoyable.

Oliver Wilson, of East Stroudsburg, acted as master of ceremonies. He gave a brief outline of the history of each of the five couples and then called on them to relate some of their experiences shortly ofter their weddings. Some of them told of their honeymoon trips. Those who had not enjoyed a honeymoon told of numerous events which took place. This proved one of the most interesting features of the big day.

The 3 p.m. service proved one long to be remembered. The five couples marched into the chapel and, on arrival at the altar, they reaffirmed their marriage vows led by Pastor Bernard.

Miss Frailey was heard in three vocal numbers with Mrs. White her accompanist. Another outstanding feature occurred as they you overhear from time to time. left the chapel when they were subjected to the traditional rice shower. After the final service at the chapel, the honored couples and their host of friends gathered in the social hall for the reception specially planned for them. The decorations consisted of goldeolored flowers and there were also floral arrangements on all the tables. The table of the five honored couples was decked out with golden dishes and tableware and golden candles and a five-tier square wedding cake which was baked and decorated by Mrs. Clyde White. There was golden lattice work around each layer of the cake. Ice cream and punch were served.

The guests at the reception enjoyed a social time which proved most pleasing during which they extended their hearty good wishes for the five honored couples and many more years of happy wed-

New York Flower Show Is Called

Off By Officials New York (A)-The New York International Flower Show will not be held next year because of a lack of "suitable quarters," it became known at the week-end. The show, an annual spring event since 1914 except for three years during World War Two, was forced last March to move from Grand Central Palace, its traditional exhibition site in midtown Manhattan, to the Kingsbridge Armory in the Bronx. The government had taken over Grand Central Palace for office use. The move caused a financial Blakeslee, Mrs. A. T. Blakeslee loss. ### Steak Recipe For Backyard Chefs Makes A Decided Hit whole new school of food preparation—as well as an array of back yard chefs. Just moving the cooking locale from the kitchen range to the barbecue releases a daring and willingness to experiment with food

More often than not it is the man of the house who takes over. he sight of a thick steak and a bed of gleaming coals puts his ingenuity to work. His innovations become a success story to be passed on to his business associates the next day. It was the venturesomeness of an outdoor amateur cook which resulted in the newest recipe now being exchanged by collectors of pit recipes. The originator of this recipe wanted to preserve the tenderness of a choice steak by slow-even cooking. At the same time he wanted to seal in the rich meat juices with their healthful He accomplished both ends by packing the steak with a thick coating of moistened salt. Presto, the hot coals formed a shell-like crust which drew the heat and steadled the cooking temperature. At the same_time the heavy salt crust prevented the juices from dripping away into the fire, Be-

Girdle glamour at reduced prices! THAT'S the big news from our corset department. Remember those lovely white mesh girdles and panty girdles that sold at $5 earlier in the season? Well, they're reduced now to $3.79. Cool . . . double-stitched for additional support, and prettily feminine, they're a value worthy of every woman's consideration. The sizes are small, medium and large,

Five teams will take part in the annual Monroe County Softball League tournament at Stroudsburg Playground next week, it was decided last night at a meeting of the circuit at the home of Jack Mullins, league president. Mullins announced following the meeting that the tournament would contain only five teams because only five representatives attended last night's meeting. Each club will pay an entrance fee of $10. Entries The five teams are Al Besecker's Diner, Keiper's Laundry, Kulp's Pocono Lake Foundry, Empire Box and Jack's Kunkletown Lake Harmony Market.

Drawings for next Monday's opening games featured Al Besecker's Diner against Kelper's Laundry and Kulp's Foundry Bar against Empire Box. Jack's Market drew a bye.

bleheader with Philadelphia. Mistaken After all their blasting in the opener, the Giants looked as though they were going to pick right up again in the second game. Don Mueller reached first on an error in the first inning. Then Littlefield walked Willie Mays, Monte Irvin and "Hank" Thompson to force in a run. But the Giants were mistaken if they thought they were going to take any more liberties with Littlefield. He stopped them the rest of the way, although they had runners on in every inning except the second. Monte Irvin got four of their nine hits. But each time he looked like he was getting in trouble, Littlefield tightened. It marked the first game in the lat 14 that the Giants have failed to hit a home run.

Your Horoscope Today By FRANCIS DRAKE

MONDAY, JULY 12, 1944 March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Mercury influences, somewhat restrictive now, suggest extra care in making decisions, promises, signing agreements. Brighter aspects for personal affairs; some relief of tension.

types of industry, labor matters, re-search. Immediate interest should be entered on essentials. November 23 to December 22 (Sagit tarius)—Come out of any self-conscious mood. There is much to be learned by observing the success of others. Pass up questionable schemes, activities of some relief of tension.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Encouraging vibrations for travel, shipping, trading, youngsters' activities matters of a confidential nature. Bon't he impulsive or act on hearsay; it is not your true nature to do so.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—No startling results for the easy-going or Jackadasical person, but you who really think and consistently try can expect healthy returns.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—The outlook may be uncertain for awhile. Use the early hours for rechecking, therefore use restraint in trying to put over ideas; be diligent in following rules, fulfilling obligations.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—Influences not entirely encouraging. Remain firm; don't relax principles under pressure. A better day can be yours if extra effort is used.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Be reasonably flexible in all things so that you can make rapid changes in plans if necessary. Some uncertainties in financial matters, Make allowance for this.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—There is real need for commonsense. good humor and tolerance now, Avoid indecisiveness, fumbling.

October 24 to Nevember 22 (Secretal)—Major vibratious stimulating for all may be uncertainted to the proposed upon. Incentive, stimulus needed to bring you rightful gains.

Wake up, friend.

VISITORS to the outdoor show will be welcomed beginning at 10 a. m. Friday, according to Olivia Dreher, chairman of arrangements for the show. All exhibits continue until 10 p. m. both days.

Exhibitors are requested to arrive at the show location no later than 9:30 a. m. each day to find space for their work. Camp stools and necessary materials for display purposes must be furnished by the individual artists, Miss Dreher said.

The show is open to both ama teur and professional artists. All those interested in showing their work should contact Miss Drehe at 804 Main St. or Arthur A. Widmer at the A. B. Wyckoff department store.

DURING the past two Summers the outdoor show has achieved recognition as one of the finest general reviews of regional art. All
